

Bezier Curve

Bezier curves are straight lines corresponding to different positions at slightly different angles to give the appearance of a curve. A popular use of Bezier curves was in Mary Everest Boole's curve stitching activities.

